PASSPORT

This passport is no more important than any other passport, but it is more fun and more rational.

Human beings should not need passports, and should be free to go wherever they like, as long as they do not take an army with them. (In any case, passports are no protection against those who take armies with them).

We believe, with Eduardo Galeano, that:

*One day the world won't be upside down,
and then any newborn human being will be welcome. Saying, "Welcome. Come in. Enter.
The entire earth will be your kingdom.
Your legs will be your passport,
valid forever."*

Until then, this passport will reassure officials of your humanity wherever it is challenged.

If you like collecting stamps to show where you've been, you can do so here:

This passport may be copied and translated. It may even be sold, as long as any profit goes towards the cause of freedom of movement and equality.

Confirmation of Humanity

I confirm that is a human being and not an alien, nor a business corporation, or a figment of some racist's imagination.

He/She should be allowed to go wherever he/she wishes, to settle and work there if he/she desires, and enjoy the same rights as anybody else.

He/She has never invaded or bombed another country, or destroyed natural environments for commercial gain.
